Dwp has created the interiors of a rooftop restaurant and bar for the newly launched ‘Horizon’ at the Hilton Pattaya, Thailand.

The brief was to ‘create a place where guests will understand the meaning of style, taste and exclusivity, high above the world’.

“We are delighted at the launch of Horizon – it was a real pleasure working with the Hilton Pattaya on this rooftop venue,” said Palach Painupong, creative director, dwp Thailand.

“They were very receptive to our ideas. We have created a design that we are incredibly proud of and feel very fortunate to have such a supportive client.”

Harald Feurstein, general manager, Hilton Pattaya, added the result exceeded expectations, by including sleek, clean lines and capturing the extended space beyond the normal footprint of the building with the suspended 'Infinity Bar'.

"One of the most remarkable architectural aspects, taking outdoor dining to the next level is the open air 'Stargazer Lounge', where guests can see the stars through the circular opening in the overhanging roof," he said.

Set over 800m2, the restaurant and bar offer dramatic views of the city by the sea, guests feel transported to their own exclusive clifftop.
