The Perspective Awards 2011 celebrated the winners in a gala awards ceremony held on Thursday 10th November 2011, at The Mira Hotel, Hong Kong. Among the outstanding architecture, interiors and product design projects, firms and designers recognised, dwp | design worldwide partnership accepted the award for Best Office design for the stunning interiors of the 20,000sqm SCB HQ Offices & Training Centre, Bangkok. “We, at dwp, are delighted on attaining yet another award recognizing our talent and work among our peers and the industry. This is truly a great honour,” remarked dwp group CEO, Brenton Mauriello.

The original buildings SCB, Thailand's oldest and largest bank, were to occupy were classic 1970's design, with unique hexagonal floor plates. The intent was to soften the edges in all areas around the core, in order to generate more fluid spaces for SCB. dwp continued the architectural design detail through the project, including the areas for break-out meetings. Located around the core each floor provides dual break-out areas, designed to be open and directly connected to the equally open working environment. The glass edges are curved and banquet seating was created to fit around the curved edges, resulting in a classic approach that also softens the primary circulation, throughout the floor plate. In addition, the installed vertical garden gives staff visual camouflage and adds character to the generic floor plate. The design was completed in June 2010.
