The Luxe Et Al International Hotel & Property Awards 2012 recently held their award ceremony in London on 28th September 2012. dwp | design worldwide partnership won the award for a 'Restaurant within a Hotel' for the interior design of Belon Oyster Bar & Grill, in the Banyan Tree, in Macau.

Rewarding the best in hospitality interior design and architecture from across the globe, the International Hotel & Property Awards 2012 was hosted by leading interior design magazine 'design et al' (www.design-et-al.co.uk). "We are thrilled to have won this prestigious award and have our work recognised in this way. These design awards are a truly significant international platform, showcasing the very best in hospitality interiors and architecture," commented dwp Group CEO, Brenton Mauriello.

dwp were commissioned to create the interiors for the new speciality feature restaurant of the Banyan Tree Macau. Prestigiously located on the top floor of the hotel, boasting enormous windows with views over the Macao skyline, Belon Oyster Bar & Grill is evocative of an underwater experience. Set over around 2000sqm, the restaurant is conceived to be generously spacious, indulgent for guests, and a premier dining destination. Starting with the oyster shape, the design takes reference from a continuation of underwater forms, movements and colours. Curvaceous oceanic shapes and details, inspired by aquatic forms of scallop tails, jellyfish, tentacles, waves and spiraling shells, envelop the entirety, flooding the space with a visual underwater language.
